

„ I would, if I could“

To begin with I would like to say that this topic can introduce our self really a lot. There are so many different people on the Earth and every day we complain about a lot of things. But just a few people try to change these things.

We cannot choose how long we will live, but we can choose how much life we give to our years. We cannot influence the beauty of our face but we can influence its expression. We cannot influence negative atmosphere of this life but we can influence which atmosphere is in our mind. You cannot choose how you are feeling but you can choose what you will do with it. A lot of people want to do something with things which they cannot change. But just few people try to influence their attitude.

But for today I have something like magic wand and I can write you some things which I would, if I could.

First of all I would give more prospects to sick people for recovery. There are so many diseases and because of them die really a lot of innocent, kind people. Every day die a lot of children or parents and it can change our life in a second. We have to respect each other and behave well, tell to closest people that we like them because we never know when we see them last time. I would like to make new medicine, if I could.

But there is also problem with famine in poor countries. When I was a kid I remember asking my grandfather, why people in Africa have always hunger and why we don't help them. My grandfather told me that it is not so easy. But I wish it was. I would give them something to eat, make new schools, new wells, something with can help these people, who were born in these bad surroundings.

A lot of people die because of drugs. It is their problem, we can say, because they do not value their health. They run away from problems. But I wish them a lot of strength or something which can clear their mind without drugs. I would destroy drugs if I could.

Secondly, there are a lot of wars. Why? Why people cannot speak about things and why they have to use violence? Why is there jealousy? If everyone could swallow their pride then we would see the day when nobody died. I am really very happy that the USA has new president. He will try to prevent wars and it will help us a lot. Of course, we cannot prevent it completely but effort is the first step to success. I would do something to people can realize that we are equal and everyone have only one chance to life.

Also there is one big problem called racism. I think I will never understand it. As I wrote in foregoing paragraph all man are equal. Every human have the same change for life. So why people must bully each other only because of fact that they have not the same color of a face? I would sweep with magic wand and do something with it.

Last week we read something about felling woods at the school. People destroy woods because they want to build new towns or they want to make new fields. But a lot of woods still have disappeared and the whole ecosystem can collapse. It is very sad I thing that future generation will never see the beauty of for example blue whale or Tasmanian tiger. A lot of animals have died out. Because they are dependent on plants and plants are also on animals. Plants give to animals the air, shelter and the place to hunt. And animals give nutrient to plants when they die. I would stop this felling and save nature if I could.

What is more-we also waste with products and with petroleum. We are really pampered generation and all fall. I would like to tell everyone that they have to save and don't destroy this Earth because we don't have the last generation.

These things I consider as the biggest problem. I would really like to do something with it but unfortunately I am not a president and I don't have magic wand. I only imagine it for this day.

But there are a lot of things which I want to have or do without magic wind.

Speaking personally I would like to visit the USA. Of course because I want to have better English, meet new people and learn to be independent. But it is no all. I also want to help to connect friendship between countries. I would like to tell some information about the USA, about the culture and people there and support people who want to visit the USA too but they are afraid.

I know a lot of clever people. But it is not suffice, you know. I think that more important is raise oneself and do something. We cannot only wait that someone helps us. And this is unique chance. We can visit the USA and it starts us. I can say that I cannot understand that we are only four people in this room. Why people don't use this chance? I would give them more courage and determination if I could.

To sum up I would like to share with you with one nice quotation, which befits to this topic: "A journey of a thousand miles must be begun with a single step." And this is my "first step" for my dream. For visit the USA. I hope that this step in form these words can help me to realize my dream.

Thank you very much for this chance.
